COMMUNISM SPREADING.

Dr. Nov. 6.—"The Gospel of Prophecy," declares the Joplin bulletin, published under the local trades assembly. It states that the spread of this form of organization is travelling rapidly now over the zinc and the past summer has seen organizations lined up with the General Assembly.
The chief element in the circular establishment of the imper-

and how comes the new union in the eastern district, which has taken out 15 and enrolled in the great American Federation of Labor, as fast as the men come in, the truth and purpose of the union, and the growing numbers of the great workers, banded together in one union, and forever—not alone for the moment and welfare, but for the good of all.

trating trains now work on a daily schedule, but, according to the meeting, a majority are forced to work from sixteen hours to as many as thirty hours a week. It was claimed many were made clear that the movement was for an increase in wages and to shorten the working day.

VIOL LABOR ILLEGAL.

City, Okla. Nov. 6.—The general of Oklahoma has advised the state board of public affairs that the use of convict labor in connection with work of the state penitentiary lands is prohibited by the state law. The board announced that the law would be used in state institutions. The state federation of laborists is the board, in which subsequent legislation invalid ated the protest was referred to the court, who reversed the ruling and sustained the trade union's position.

RIGHT TO JOIN UNION.

Nov. 6.—President McMillen told states civil service commission Treasures National Brotherhood of Railway Employees at the commission's official activity of Maine Union employees was not an attack on the commission's right to privilege of membership in a union or to restrict their political activities. The commission said that the union's demand for a greater degree than that of other employees who are not in the union are restricted.
